It's Budget Time at RLPOA

It's Raintree budget time again. RLPOA's fiscal year matches the calendar year and the Board will once again make the difficult decision on where to put resident assessments to best use.

Over the past few years, the Board has adopted a rather successful process. The Board, with committee consultation, develops a list of goals and then prioritizes them. Funding is appropriated in order of priority. This list also provides a blueprint for future Boards to provide some continuity to the process. It still is flexible enough to change in accordance with voters wishes in the annual March Board election.

We have some mandatory and ongoing expenses such as payroll, general operations and reserve accounts. However, the Board is fortunate enough to apply about a third of its budget to discretionary, capital-improvement goals on the priority list.

This is where you come in. The Board's goals are published on the website, <http://rlpoa.com>. You can see the Board's goals for 2011 under the Community Information column, and the status of each goal. For 2012, we are asking you to provide the Board input on what you would like to see at Raintree Lake. The goals which the Board was unable to complete in 2011 due to limited funding will most likely carry over to 2012, but resident and committee input is critical because we are all in this together.

Please provide your input in an email to: residentinput@rlpoa.com

How to Prune a Tree

A tree may need pruning for a variety of reasons: to remove diseased or storm-damaged branches; to thin the crown to permit new growth and better air circulation; to reduce the height of a tree; to remove obstructing lower branches; and to shape a tree for design purposes.

How to Prune

Whether the tree is large or small, the key is to prune the unwanted branch while protecting the stem or trunk wood of the tree. Tree branches grow from stems at nodes and pruning always takes place on the branch side of a stem-branch node. Branches and stems are separated by a lip of tissue called a stem collar which grows out from the stem at the base of the branch. All pruning cuts should be made on the branch side of this stem collar. This protects the stem and the other branches that might be growing from it. It also allows the tree to heal more effectively after the prune. To prevent tearing of the bark and stem wood, particularly in the case of larger branches, use the following procedure:

1. Make a small wedge-shaped cut on the underside of the branch just on the branch side of the stem collar. This will break the bark at that point and prevent a tear from running along the bark and stem tissue.
2. Somewhat farther along the branch, starting at the top of the branch, cut all the way through the branch leaving a stub end.
3. Finally, make a third cut parallel to and just on the branch side of the stem collar to reduce the length of the stub as much as possible.

A similar procedure is used in pruning one of two branches (or one large branch and a stem) joined together in a "u" or "v" crotch. This is known as a drop crotch cut. Make the first notch cut on the underside of the branch you're pruning well up from the crotch. For the second cut, cut completely through the branch from inside the crotch well up from the ridge of bark joining the two branches. Finally, to shorten the remaining stub, make a third cut just to one side of the branch bark ridge and roughly parallel to it.

Should I Seal the Wound?

Trees naturally close wounds that result from branch removal so ideally, pruning wounds should be left to close without any help from you. Also, since most pruning should be done in late fall or winter, insects should not be much of an issue. However, there exist some circumstances when it is preferable to seal the wound with a non-asphalt-based pruning sealer. In particular, you should seal pruning wounds on trees that are susceptible to damaging insect infestation such as birch, oak, and elm trees. Also, if the weather is particularly dry, a pruning sealer will help the tree retain more moisture.

When to Prune

For most trees, the dormant season, late fall or winter, is the best time to prune although dead branches can and should be removed at any time. Pruning during the dormant period minimizes sap loss and subsequent stress to the tree. It also minimizes the risk of fungus infection or insect infestation as both fungi and insects are likely to be in dormancy at the same time as the tree. Finally, in the case of deciduous trees, pruning when the leaves are off will give you a better idea of how your pruning will affect the shape of the tree. Some fruiting and flowering trees should be pruned at other times of the year, depending on whether they flower on the previous year's growth or not. After pruning, it is always a good idea to give the tree a good fertilizing so that the tree can naturally close the pruning wounds and to reduce the stress placed on the tree. .

How Much to Prune

When deciding how much to prune a tree, as little as possible is often the best rule of thumb. All prunes place stress on a tree and increase its vulnerability to disease and insects. Never prune more than 25% of the crown and ensure that living branches compose at least 2/3 of the height of the tree. Pruning more risks fatally damaging your tree. In some cases, storm damage, height reduction to avoid crowding utility lines or even raising the crown to meet municipal bylaws, your pruning choices are made for you. But even in these instances, prune as little as you can get away with.

Pruning Tools

Advice regarding tools is pretty straight-forward. Buy the best tools you can afford and keep them in good condition. There are also some new pruning tools out on the market that you may not have heard of that can greatly decrease the effort involved in pruning.

Rope Saws

A new and safe way to cut high tree limbs—pull the ropes to prune while standing on the ground.

Pole Pruner and Lopper

A versatile pole pruner that can be attached to any standard-thread extension pole. Includes 14-inch pruning saw blade and 1-inch lopper.

Folding Pruner

A versatile, folding pruning saw that can be attached to any universal extension pole for long reach. Lightweight and robust.

Portable Buck Saw

Extremely lightweight and collapsible. Perfect for the homeowner, gardener and camper.

After each tree you prune, remember to disinfect your pruning tools in a solution of one part bleach to nine parts water followed by cleaning with soapy water and then drying. Tree diseases are easily spread by infected tools. Finally, if you're not skilled in the use of tools like chain saws or if the pruning job is more than you're capable of managing, hire an expert. Safety first.

September ends the 2011 Yard of the Month program. Congratulations to all the residents who won in 2011. The program will start again in May 2012. Just a reminder regarding the program! It started in 1998 so 2012 will be the 15th year for the program. Three homes are picked for the months of May through September, one on the north side, one on the south side, and one in the maintenance-free areas (Villas, Fountains, Cobblestone). The award is for well-maintained front yards and/or back yards. Homes that are delinquent on association dues are not eligible for the award. Winners get a Yard-of-the-Month sign posted on their yards, a $50 gift certificate for Nick's Greenleaf Nursery and, best of all, bragging rights on their streets. Continue to keep your yards nice because you never know if the Common Ground Committee will be knocking on your door in 2012!

July Garden Club Meeting:

No meeting was scheduled at the clubhouse for July due to a swim meet. Jan Willis invited members to her house to go swimming since the weather was hot, hot, hot! Jan also served refreshments. Jan's backyard is gorgeous and could be in any garden magazine. A big thank you to Jan for doing this! The members that attended had a lovely time.

Please Join Us In September

The September Garden Club meeting is Wednesday, September 21st, at 7:00PM at the clubhouse.

And the Winner Is:

The Duck Pond flower garden won first place in the Lee's Summit Landscaping Contest for Subdivision Entrance. Roberta Prudden, Garden Club Member submitted the entry.

Before the excessive heat and no rain weather the Duck Pond flower garden was beautiful. In fact it was so beautiful that several wedding parties from the church had pictures taken there.

September Gardening Chores:

- * Start to prepare tools and equipment for winter weather.
 - * Remove spent blooms from roses.
 - * Purchase bulbs from nurseries.
 - * Dig up and divide perennials, iris, day lilies, and bulbs.
- * Keep watering properly even as weather cools.

Gardening Quote:

If winter is slumber and spring is birth, and summer is life, then autumn rounds out to be reflection. Its a time of year when leaves are down and the harvest is in and the perennials are gone. Mother Earth just closed up the drapes on another year and it's time to reflect on what's come before."

Pumpkins on Wheels Reminder:

(Chrysanthemums, Pumpkins and Fall Displays)

Have you taken the opportunity to place your order for Chrysanthemums and Fall Decorations for the Garden Club? If not, time is running out! You only have until September 16th to place your order. An order form was mailed with your third quarter dues statements and they can also be picked up at the clubhouse office. There is also an order form in this month's Shoreline newsletter. The order form also has a "Donation Only Box" for those residents who want to help the club, but do not want the fall decorations.

Please make checks payable to : Raintree Lake Garden Club. Checks should be mailed to Machelle Seiler, at 224 SW Seagull Ct, Lee's Summit, MO 64082. Checks can also be given to any garden club member, but not given to the Raintree Lake office. Machelle's number is 537-8004 if you have any questions. Her e-mail address is ksuseilers@comcast.net

No increases in prices! The prices are the same as they were in 2009 and 2010. The mums are the 2-gallon size and are gorgeous. They are only $10. You won't find a better price for the size and beauty of these mums plus they are delivered to your home!

A lot of garden clubs are just social clubs, but the Raintree Lake Garden Club want to give back to their community by making it more beautiful for all residents to enjoy. This year we were able to purchase two new beautiful flower pots for the clubhouse front door.

PLEASE SUPPORT YOUR GARDEN CLUB BY PLACING YOUR ORDER TODAY!
